

Scottish Natural Heritage

Sharing Good Practice Programme

January – December 2018

Scottish Natural Heritage
Dualchas Nàdair na h-Alba

All of nature for all of Scotland
Nàdar air fad airson Alba air fad

Sharing Good Practice is a unique programme of events for people from a wide variety of sectors, including land managers, local authorities, health, business, education, voluntary and government. These events provide an opportunity for practitioners with differing levels of experience to network, learn from experts, influence future policy, share ideas and gain new insights and inspiration.

Urban Design With Nature

Wednesday
21 February 2018

Battleby

FREE

Booking forms available from sgp@snh.gov.uk

Integrating multi-functional green infrastructure (GI) into urban design, planning and delivery offers a range of sustainable, future-proof solutions and benefits for people and nature.

Green infrastructure helps our urban areas be more resilient and adapt to climate change, reduce energy consumption, mitigate flooding, and improve air quality. These nature-based solutions promote active living, facilitate health and well-being, provide homes for wildlife, and transform our towns and cities into more enjoyable, attractive places to visit, live, work and play in.

This event will explore a range of forward-looking policy, strategic, and project-level approaches and expertise across a range of themes. You will also have the opportunity to network with other industry experts and share experiences and knowledge of urban GI.

In partnership with ERZ Studio, WSP and Glasgow City Council

For urban planners, designers, architects, landscape architects, developers, contractors, engineers; housebuilders and social housing providers, local authorities, and relevant public sector representatives.

Leading Edge – the youth of today

Tuesday
27 March 2018

Battleby

FREE

Booking forms available from
sgp@snh.gov.uk

A fully participative day of sharing ideas, techniques, experiences and opportunities for working more closely with young people in Scotland.

A celebration in support of International Year of Young People.

These are the next generation of people who will care for our natural environment in the future. How can we engage with them, support them and learn from them?

In partnership with SCRA

For young people and all those working with young people in the natural environment.

The Construction Industry and the Natural Heritage

Thursday
26 April 2018

Battleby

FREE

Booking forms available from
sgp@snh.gov.uk

Good practice on construction sites saves money, saves time, protects reputation and keeps you lawful.

However, poor practice can lead to environmental pollution, species impacts and habitat loss.

This event offers all those involved in the construction industry an opportunity to learn from each other, discuss good practice and understand the opportunities for further support that are available.

In partnership with SEPA

For contractors firms, Local Planning Authorities, Clerks of Works, SEPA

Farmers and the Countryside – A Celebration

Friday
18 May 2018

Battleby

FREE

Booking forms available from
sgp@snh.gov.uk

This event will encourage discussion and sharing of how to achieve biodiversity benefits alongside normal farming practice.

It is a celebration of how farmers are delivering environmental outcomes, with an emphasis on benefits for biodiversity. These may be delivered as part of their greening activity, supported by SRDP, or outside of any schemes because they have a desire to provide good environmental stewardship of the land.

In partnership with NFUS

For farmers, crofters and land managers;
farm advisers, consultants, and those involved in agricultural policy and practice.

Woodland Places – where have all the flowers gone?

Friday
8 June 2018

Battleby

FREE

Booking forms available from
sgp@snh.gov.uk

Woodland plant communities face substantial problems due to isolation and fragmentation, overgrazing, and in planted native woods on the lowlands, competition from agricultural weeds. However, the diversity and quality of "woodland wildflowers" in native woods can be transformed by appropriate management. Research and practical restoration projects are leading the way towards a better understanding and improved management outcomes.

This event offers participants the chance to share their experiences and help input into best practice guidance for woodland and conservation managers.

In partnership with Forestry Commission, Plantlife, Stirling University WrEN project, Scotia
Seeds and SRUC

For land managers, woodland managers, and all those interested in sharing good practice in the conservation of plants and management of native and mixed woodlands.

Marine and Coastal Wildlife and Environmental Crime

Thursday 30 August 2018	This event will promote awareness and best practice responses to a range of marine and coastal wildlife and environmental crime issues.	In partnership with Police Scotland, National Wildlife Crime Unit and PAW Scotland Partners	For managers of coastal sites, partner agencies with a statutory role in marine and coastal sites and organisations/groups with a commercial sporting or tourism interest.
Battleby
FREE	Participants will take part in scenarios and be encouraged to share their own experiences.
Booking forms available from sgp@snh.gov.uk	Experts will be on hand all day to enable understanding and discussion of the correct approaches to dealing with incidents of wildlife and environmental crime – birds, marine mammals and coastal/marine protected areas.

Invasive Non-Native Species

Wednesday 12 September 2018	This event will cover strategic approaches to INNS management, as well as the new regulatory regime introduced by the EU Invasive Alien Species Regulation. Stakeholders will learn about new developments, share experiences about what worked and what didn't and disseminate key messages to their respective organisations. This event will also provide an opportunity to promote/ celebrate a number of high profile INNS projects.	In partnership with SEPA, Forestry Commission, Marine Scotland, SASA, GB NNSS	For trade, industry and recreational activity representative bodies, as well as relevant NGOs, and public bodies.
Battleby
FREE
Booking forms available from sgp@snh.gov.uk

Green Infrastructure Fund - Knowledge Exchange Event

Wednesday 26 September 2018	A day of sharing ideas and experiences for those involved in the delivery of Green Infrastructure projects supported by the GI fund.	In partnership with greenspace scotland and Central Scotland Green Network Trust	For organisations with GI funding, staff from sister Strategic Interventions, Scottish green infrastructure network partners, organisations that are potential applicants in future funding rounds.
The Whisky Bond Glasgow
FREE	An opportunity for networking, learning from each other and visiting a local project to see and discuss some of the on-the-ground activities being delivered in partnership.
Booking forms available from sgp@snh.gov.uk	Join us in a fully interactive day exploring new and established ideas, discussing challenges and solutions and sharing success stories. Widen your network!

Young People

Wednesday
5 December 2018

Battleby

Cost TBC

Booking forms available from
sgp@snh.gov.uk

2018 is Year of Young People. This event will celebrate and share good practice examples of what worked during 2018 to engage young people, and focus on the legacy aspects of the year to make sure that the key objectives of YoYP are mainstreamed where possible into organisations. It will showcase the Challenge fund work, and how that work hopes to have lasting legacy; and our work with linking schools and their local greenspace.

In partnership with Young Scot

For environmental NGO's looking to continue best practice in working with young people.
Grant receivers
e.g JMT

Scottish Natural Heritage
Dualchas Nàdair na h-Alba

All of nature for all of Scotland
Nàdar air fad airson Alba air fad