

During 2021 visits to the outdoors were high and people connected with nature both in local greenspaces and further afield. Many UK residents took their holidays in Scotland.

Data from the 52 ranger services who reported this year shows...

RANGER SERVICES

ACROSS SCOTLAND 2021

19 million

people benefitted in-person from the sites managed, and on-site information provided, by ranger services

6 million

people benefitted from the information that ranger services provided online

17,000

people attended an educational activity outdoors in nature with a ranger service, from nursery to university level

43

Junior Rangers (age 11-18) were positively involved with the work of the ranger services

3,000

people volunteered with the ranger services, taking action for nature and benefitting their mental and physical health

9,000

people attended events and activities led by ranger services

1,000

community groups, partnerships and other organisations were supported by ranger services to deliver action for nature and people

Ranger services

led and undertook a range of activity to protect and restore nature