

Those who feel more connected to nature tend to also report higher levels of health and wellbeing.

