

More than two thirds of the population get at least an hour of moderate physical activity per week through outdoor exercise...

and over a quarter meet the NHS physical activity guidelines through outdoor exercise alone.

